

Alternate Narrate prompts

Original prompt:

The bush

Every picture tells a story.

Use your imagination and experience to narrate (tell) a story about the photo.

Where are the people going? Why?

What problem is caused? How is it solved?

Think about:

- where your story is set
- who your characters are – what they do, what they say, and how they think and feel
- the problem and how it is solved
- the order of your ideas and how they are linked.

Remember to:

- choose your words carefully
- take care with your spelling, punctuation, and sentences
- edit – add or delete words or sentences to improve your work.

No change in written prompt

Simple change in written prompt

Every picture tells a story.

Use your imagination and experience to narrate (tell) a story about the photo.

What are the people doing? Why?

What is the problem? How is it solved?

Think about:

- where your story is set
- who your character/s are – what they do, what they say, and how they think and feel
- the problem and how it is solved
- the order of your ideas and how they are linked.

Remember to:

- choose your words carefully
- take care with your spelling, punctuation, and sentences
- edit – add or delete words or sentences to improve your work.

